PHYSICAL ABILITY TEST DESCRIPTION AND REQUIREMENTS

The physical ability test is designed to assess an applicant's basic physical condition, as well as to assess his/her ability to meet or exceed minimal standards in all phases of police work. The test consists of three (3) muscular endurance components and one (1) aerobic endurance component. The applicant will be required to meet or exceed the below listed minimum standards for each component of the test; failure to meet the below listed minimum standard for any component of this test will result in the applicant's failure of the physical ability test, thus, he/she will be eliminated from the process.

MUSCULAR ENDURANCE (PART 1)

PUSH-UP TEST

The applicant will begin by having the body raised off the floor in the "up" position, arms straight and shoulder width apart, legs and back straight with feet together. A completed push-up will be executed by the applicant lowering him/herself from the "up" position until the elbows are locked. During the exercise, the applicant's body line (from head to ankles) will remain straight with both feet on the floor. The applicant will do as many push-ups as he/she can in one (1) minute. Resting is permitted in the "up" position. A full body push-up will be required for both men and women. The below chart lists the minimum number of push-ups an applicant must complete in one (1) minute to pass this component of the test.

Ewanaiga	Male		Female
Exercise	Age 20-29	Age 30-36	Age 20-29	Age 30-36
Push-ups	22	17	10	8

SIT-UP TEST

The applicant will begin by lying on his/her back with heels flat on the floor. With bent knees the applicant will raise to a sit-up position with arms crossed on his/her chest. The applicant's feet may be secured by a partner. A sit-up will be executed by raising the upper body until the elbows touch the knee; hands must maintain contact with the chest throughout the entire exercise. The applicant will then lower the upper body down until the small of the back touches the floor. The applicant will have one (1) minute to do as many sit-ups as possible. Resting is permitted in the "up" position. The below chart lists the minimum number of sit-ups an applicant must complete in one (1) minute to pass this component of the test.

Evansias	Male		Female
Exercise	Age 20-29	Age 30-36	Age 20-29	Age 30-36
Sit-ups	33	30	24	20

VERTICAL JUMP TEST

This is a measure of jumping or explosive power. Using a yardstick taped to a smooth wall, the applicant will stand with one side toward the wall and reach as high as possible to mark his/her "standard reach." The applicant will then jump as high as possible marking the wall above his/her "standard reach" mark; this will be the applicant's "jump mark." Prior to the jump, one foot must remain stationary on the floor. The "score" is the distance between the standard reach mark and the top of the jump mark. The best of three (3) trials will be the applicant's "final score." The below chart lists the minimum final score the applicant must achieve to pass this component of the test.

Evansias	M	ale	Female
Exercise	Age 20-29	Age 30-36	Age 20-29	Age 30-36

1.5 MILE RUN TEST

The applicant will run 1.5 miles as fast as possible. During the administration of the test, the applicant will be informed of his/her lap and finish times. Upon completion of the run, a mandatory "cool down" period will be enforced. The cool down period will require the applicant to walk slowly for a period of five (5) minutes immediately after the run. The below chart lists the maximum time (depicted as minutes:seconds) an applicant has to complete the 1.5 mile run to pass this component of the test.

EMPLOYEE RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES UNDER THE FAMILY AND MEDICAL LEAVE ACT

Basic Leave Entitlement

FMLA requires covered employers to provide up to 12 weeks of unpaid, job-protected leave to eligible employees for the following reasons:

- For incapacity due to pregnancy, prenatal medical care or child birth;
- To care for the employee's child after birth, or placement for adoption or foster care;
- To care for the employee's spouse, son or daughter, or parent, who has a serious health condition; or
- For a serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform the employee's job.

Military Family Leave Entitlements

Eligible employees with a spouse, son, daughter, or parent on active duty or call to active duty status in the National Guard or Reserves in support of a contingency operation may use their 12-week leave entitlement to address certain qualifying exigencies. Qualifying exigencies may include attending certain military events, arranging for alternative childcare, addressing certain financial and legal arrangements, attending certain counseling sessions, and attending post-deployment reintegration briefings. FMLA also includes a special leave entitlement that permits eligible employees to take up to 26 weeks of leave to care for a covered servicemember during a single 12-month period. A covered servicemember is a current member of the Armed Forces, including a member of the National Guard or Reserves, who has a serious injury or illness incurred in the line of duty on active duty that may render the servicemember medically unfit to perform his or her duties for which the servicemember is undergoing medical treatment, recuperation, or therapy; or is in outpatient status; or is on the temporary disability retired list.

Benefits and Protections

During FMLA leave, the employer must maintain the employee's health coverage under any "group health plan" on the same terms as if the employee had continued to work. Upon return from FMLA leave, most employees must be restored to their original or equivalent positions with equivalent pay, benefits, and other employment terms. Use of FMLA leave cannot result in the loss of any employment benefit that accrued prior to the start of an employee's leave.

Eligibility Requirements

Employees are eligible if they have worked for a covered employer for at least one year, for 1,250 hours over the previous 12 months, and if at least 50 employees are employed by the employer within 75 miles.

Definition of Serious Health Condition

A serious health condition is an illness, injury, impairment, or physical or mental condition that involves either an overnight stay in a medical care facility, or continuing treatment by a health care provider for a condition that either prevents the employee from performing the functions of the employee's job, or prevents the qualified family member from participating in school or other daily activities. Subject to certain conditions, the continuing treatment requirement may be met by a period of incapacity of more than 3 consecutive calendar days combined with at least two visits to a health care provider or one visit and a regimen of continuing treatment, or incapacity due to pregnancy, or incapacity due to a chronic condition. Other conditions may meet the definition of continuing treatment.

Use of Leave

An employee does not need to use this leave entitlement in one block. Leave can be taken intermittently or on a reduced leave schedule when medically necessary. Employees must make reasonable efforts to schedule leave for planned medical treatment so as not to unduly disrupt the employer's operations. Leave due to qualifying exigencies may also be taken on an intermittent basis.

Substitution of Paid Leave for Unpaid Leave

Employees may choose or employers may require use of accrued paid leave while taking FMLA leave. In order to use paid leave for FMLA leave, employees must comply with the employer's normal paid leave policies.

Employee Responsibilities

Employees must provide 30 days advance notice of the need to take FMLA leave when the need is foreseeable. When 30 days notice is not possible, the employee must provide notice as soon as practicable and generally must comply with an employer's normal call-in procedures. Employees must provide sufficient information for the employer to determine if the leave may qualify for FMLA protection and the anticipated timing and duration of the leave. Sufficient information may include that the employee is unable to perform job functions, the family member is unable to perform daily activities, the need for hospitalization or continuing treatment by a health care provider, or circumstances supporting the need for military family leave. Employees also must inform the employer if the requested leave is for a reason for which FMLA leave was previously taken or certified. Employees also may be required to provide a certification and periodic recertification supporting the need for leave.

Employer Responsibilities

Covered employers must inform employees requesting leave whether they are eligible under FMLA. If they are, the notice must specify any additional information required as well as the employees' rights and responsibilities. If they are not eligible, the employer must provide a reason for the ineligibility. Covered employers must inform employees if leave will be designated as FMLA-protected and the amount of leave counted against the employee's leave entitlement. If the employer determines that the leave is not FMLA-protected, the employer must notify the employee.

Unlawful Acts by Employers

FMLA makes it unlawful for any employer to:

- Interfere with, restrain, or deny the exercise of any right provided under FMLA;
- Discharge or discriminate against any person for opposing any practice made unlawful by FMLA or for involvement in any proceeding under or relating to FMLA.

Enforcement

An employee may file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Labor or may bring a private lawsuit against an employer. FMLA does not affect any Federal or State law prohibiting discrimination, or supersede any State or local law or collective bargaining agreement which provides greater family or medical leave rights.
